Tinnitus affects everyone differently. For me, it almost took away someone I love.

23-year-old Molly Porteous from Clovenstone, Edinburgh is challenging herself to complete a mammoth four-day sponsored silence to raise awareness and funds for the British Tinnitus Association (BTA), the only charity dedicated to supporting people with tinnitus, a debilitating condition that affects almost 60,000 adults in the city of Edinburgh alone.

"I will be completing a sponsored silence from the 4-7 February. During this time, I will be working my part time job at Morrisons Hunters Tryst and moving into a new flat so it will be a bit of a challenge!" Morrisons will be generously match-funding any donations made to Molly's fundraising page, meaning each donation will be doubled.

Through sharing her fundraising activity, Molly will also be supporting Tinnitus Week which begins on 1 February. The BTA are campaigning to make sure that everyone with tinnitus gets the right information, from the right place, at the right time. The BTA are asking people to share their experience of tinnitus as part of their social media campaign #ThisIsMySilence to raise awareness.

Molly shared "Tinnitus affects everyone differently. For me, it almost took away someone I love. For that reason, I am hoping to raise awareness of the effects it can have and to raise money so that we can all hope for a cure.". She aims to raise funds and awareness through her challenge to support the British Tinnitus Association's vision, "A world where no one suffers from tinnitus".

The BTA's Fundraising Officer Jess Pollard commented "We really appreciate Molly's support in taking on such a challenge to help the tinnitus community and the work we do. We're so grateful that she has chosen to use her experience with tinnitus to raise awareness!"

Please help Molly hit her £1000 target and raise vital funds by donating online at or calling 0114 250 9933 to make a donation over the phone to the British Tinnitus Association.
