Two European IIOT players, Rombit and Net4, are joining forces in a move that will see Net4 bring Rombit's safety wearable to the UK market. Rombit's market leading worker safety solution provides workers of all types with an always on assistant by their side, helping to reduce accidents and incidents in the workplace. The wearable includes features such as GPS location, fall detection, SOS button and a full back office suite. This is augmented with a vehicle based anchor that enables driver awareness and collision avoidance to provide the complete worker safety solution.

Net4, a UK based IoT solutions specialist, will add the Rombit worker safety solution to its range of Industry 4.0 solutions, further enhancing it's health & safety portfolio.

Alex Taylor, CEO Net4: "Rombit caught our attention in 2020, when they launched an innovative wearable for social distancing, contact tracing and other safety challenges. It seamlessly fits our industrial safety offering and it is clear that Rombit's solution is a great addition to our portfolio."

Jan Vercammen, CEO Rombit: "We're proud to add Net4 to our growing network of value-adding resellers. This partnership goes even beyond the roll-out of our wearable technology in the UK. Net4 is highly skilled in real time analytics, smart PPE and object recognition, so we see many opportunities to build future proof solutions together."

Both companies share the same ambition: to create safer work environments for Industry 4.0. Net4 and Rombit will hosting a webinar on 6th July 2021 where they will provide an indepth demonstration of the solution and its capabilities. To register please go to this link -
